

Have it your way: For Teens Create Your Own HiTOPS Series

HiTOPS Educator

Are there things you want your children to know, but you think they would be more receptive if they heard it from an expert? Although we recommend that parents learn to be comfortable talking about sexuality with their children, sometimes adolescents need to have their own private time to ask questions of an expert. Are there topics that you want them to hear about but you just aren't that comfortable with....such as sexual decision making, healthy vs. unhealthy relationships, contraception, STD's, or sexual violence? Gather 10-20 middle school or high school teens and have HiTOPS come to your home* to provide programs that meet your needs. Look at the menu of topics we offer to middle school and high school teens, select 3-5 programs and we will create a series that is just right for your child.

Recommended number of participants: 10-20

Length of program: 90 minutes; 120 minutes

*You may also schedule the programs to meet at the HiTOPS facility at 21 Wiggins St. in Princeton.
